Rifle Tournament

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 22.—About 600 people were present at the rifle tournament at the Presidio to-day. The shooting throughout the day was a fair average, no brilliant scores being made and no very poor ones. The weather was favorable with the exception of a pretty stiff westerly breeze, which detracted somewhat from the scores. The arrangements, under supervision of Colonel Shaw president of the California Association, were well carried out and the best order prevailed. The first match was a military short range match at 200 yards open only to members of the C R A commissioned officers of the U S A and active members of the N G C; weapon, U S Springfield rifles, seven shots to each competitor and two sighting shots, greatest possible score 35, for the first prize a Remington Creedmoor rifle, valued at $100. David Watson Company L 1st regiment N G C and Thos E Carson, made a score of 30 each. On shooting off the tie Watson scored four and won the prize. Carson scored three and took the second prize—a life membership in the C R A and first class C R A medal value $65. The third prize, Ballard rifle value $45, was won by John Mendel, a citizen member of the C R A, by a score of 29. The fourth prize, a silver medal of the C R A value $25, was won by Lieutenant Girard U S A scoring 28. The fifth prize, life membership in the C R A, value $25, was won by Chas Bergens Company L 1st regiment N G C. The sixth prize, $20 field glass, was won by Capt H J Burns Co I 1st regiment N G C. In consequence the match for enlisted men of the U S army and long range match at 1,000 yards free to all are postponed till Monday. To-morrow afternoon a grand team contest will take place.

NEVADA.

Completion of a Narrow Gauge

EUREKA Oct 22.—The Eureka and Palisade narrow gauge railroad was completed to this place this evening amid general demonstrations of joy on the part of citizens who had assembled at the depot grounds to witness the driving of the last spike and welcome the advent of the iron horse. Owing to the number of delays in the delivery of iron the road was not completed to the point intended but as the track layers appeared upon the depot grounds the ladies and gentlemen present organized an impromptu meeting and elected George W Baker, chairman. Congratulatory addresses were made by Hon Thomas Wren, Maj John Dennis and others. Flags were displayed throughout the town, salutes were fired and a general holiday appearance is given to the town. As the locomotive drew in sight with passenger cars and construction trains it was greeted with deafening cheers and amid the shouts of people congregated in the grounds, and screeching of the locomotive and furnace whistles a cordial welcome was given to the iron stranger. The road is about ninety miles in length and is owned principally by Edgar F and D O Mills of California. The construction of the road has involved an outlay of about one million dollars which has been borne by the above gentlemen without asking aid and or [illegible] from the counties it traverses.

WESTERN WASHINGTON ANNUAL FAIR

OLYMPIA Oct 21, 1875.

Last year the weather during the week in which the Salem fair was held was very unpleasant while the weather during the Olympia fair was quite the opposite. This year things are vice versa, and we have been catching it pretty heavily ever since last Monday the opening day. Farmers and visitors from the country are scarce in consequence and things generally are not as lively as they should be. Having a few moments to spare this morning I took advantage of it to visit the exposition, which had to be held this year in the same building as formerly, as time did not admit of the fair buildings being erected this year on the grounds of the association. The first object to be seen on the right of the hall was the wonderful candy man, Mr Piper of Seattle, who seems to make it an object to gather a crowd of youngsters around his stand, about as thick as flies around a sugar barrel, but as your reporter was bribed by a supply of the aforesaid candy he will refrain from further remarks as to this particular stand. Suffice it to say that not satisfied with keeping the best assortment of candy, Mr Piper goes still farther, and supplies his patrons through the assistance of two very pretty girls, whose happy, blooming countenances are quite enough to tempt even a miser to invest.

As usual, W O Bush has a splendid exhibit of flax, clover, wheat, rye, oats, barley, hops and everything in that line that can be thought of. If we only had about twenty farmers as ambitious to exhibit good crops as Mr Bush, what a glorious Territory this would be. The gentleman is only a medium sized man, but I assure you he grows Rabourdin corn 15 feet high. How is that for high? Mark Jones brought in a pair of pumpkins joined together in the bands of pumpkinism but unfortunately as soon as they reached the hall, a divorce took place and they now sit facing each other in silent agony. I believe they weigh 150 pounds each, which is saying considerable for this Territory, but I trust you won't swallow all I say on this subject as what I know of farming is very slight. Indeed, when I walk around our Fair and see mammoth cabbages, mammoth potatoes, giant pumpkins, elephant like turnips, cauliflowers one of which would last a large family for several weeks, and all the other astonishing things that are on exhibition I am fully satisfied that I never did know anything about farming especially on such an extensive scale. I am not surprised in the least that the P M S S Co want to come here with their steamers. They know right well that they will run an opposition garden against California and beat her by long chalks.

J Williams exhibits a neat bath and bath tub all ready for use at a moment's notice, and the medallion stove alongside of it looks very domestic, as rather handy for families. Yarn rugs are plenty, the handsomest being one made by Mrs I M Averill, Steilacoom. I must again state that I know nothing about rugs, so please don't blame me if I am wrong in my opinion. The display of flowers, geraniums and hothouse plants is very fine, and, I think looks better than last year. By the way I see a patchwork quilt hanging up which I find on examination has been made by Christiene Matheson, of Port Madison who is but six years old. It is well made, took two months to complete, most of the time the little girl going to school, and altogether a creditable affair.

I find the mail hour prevents me from writing further at present.

Mrs D Morgan Phelps is playing to crowded houses. To-night at midnight the troupe go to Seattle to play 'Lancashire Lass,' and come back on Saturday to play here that night. The running race to-day was won by the Buckskin horse Mr Spinning's.

AN EXPLANATION

OLYMPIA Oct 21, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your journal of yesterday, a communication is published under the heading 'Asylum Controversy,' attention being called to it in your editorial columns, which demands an explanation on my part. The writer refers to a certain petition presented to the legislature signed by residents of Pacific county, the reading of which he says 'was suppressed by the speaker on the ground of unsuitable language.' While this assertion is correct to a certain extent it does not embrace all that was contained in that suppression, and is likely to mislead those who take an interest in the matter. The facts are as follows. On last Friday, the insane asylum investigation was made the special order of Oct 27th, and pending that investigation all reports, petitions and other papers relating to it were laid over, until the matter was properly before the house. The petition from Pacific county was not suppressed by the speaker on the ground of 'unsuitable language' but was merely laid on the table as improper to read to the members at that time, just as it would be improper for a judge to charge a jury before they had been impanneled. I am quite sure the speaker was correct in withholding the petition until the matter is properly under investigation, and I am just as sure that he had no intention of withholding it from the members when it was proper to produce it. When the matter comes up for investigation I shall, to the best of my ability give a fair and impartial report of it so that the public as well as Mr Griswold may be fully informed as to its merits. With regard to the report I have already given as the result of my visit to the asylum, I cannot take back a single word. I found the institution just as I described it and felt perfectly satisfied that the patients had been well treated and if I had found the contrary to be the case, I should certainly have felt it my duty not only as a reporter but also as a citizen of this territory to make it known to the public. Of one thing I am certain in the coming investigation, and that is that the members will give it their undivided attention and that their verdict will be an honest and just one given under a conscientious conviction of its truth.

In my report contained in yesterday's [illegible] I find I have unintentionally erred in stating that Mr Hughes support H B [illegible] for the prevention of liquor selling on election days. I should have said that the gentleman opposed the bill. REPORTER.

The Independent tells a story of a fight between six women—three on each side, at Farmington, in Washington county which far eclipses the fight detailed by our local reporter at one of our city school houses. The Washington county women unfortunately had a mud fence between them, having no doubt a sort of intuitive perception of the necessity for breastworks in battle. Another piece of strategy not laid down in military tactics was that they left the infantry in the rear. They went at it in pairs, they love pairing, and pair by pair tore off one another's faces in most bountiful manner. And the way they made the back hair and bustles fly was lovely. Then they armed themselves with clubs and engaged in some jolly poking at each other through the cracks of the fence. After having exhausted their arms and their tongues the [illegible] retreated in good order from the field. The ground was literally strewn with hair, breast pins, ear rings and bustles.

We call the attention of our citizens to the change in the place for the Republican meeting this evening. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the last grand rally of the campaign will be held in Masonic Hall commencing at seven o'clock. Let every one go,

LETTER FROM A MARION COUNTY FARMER

THE HARVEST ENDED AND THE FAIRS OVER—LET US HAVE A SEPARATE FAIR FOR HORSES—WHAT SORT OF OFFICERS PEOPLE WANT—SOME SENSIBLE VIEWS ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

[illegible], Oct 20, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The harvest season but recently closed in this mother settlement of the valley, was an unusually protracted one, reaching down to the time of seeding for the fall crop of the ensuing year. The yield of winter wheat in this vicinity ranged from 35 to 45 bushels per acre and this upon land much of which has been under cultivation for more than thirty years, but owing to the late continued rains last spring followed by unusually warm weather the oat crop in this section was fully one third below the average.

Not a few people in these rural precincts have bowed themselves in thankfulness to know that another successful season of agricultural fairs has drawn to a close, and once more to be assured that at those popular exhibitions the handiworks of mankind steadily continue to hold a high estimate in the minds of the managers and admiring multitude who there do congregate, which is second only to the powers and endurance of the beautiful fleet footed coursers of the turf.

Everywhere in all ages of the world, it has been admitted that his beautiful, symmetrically formed horseship is the noblest, most elegant and useful animal anywhere to be found upon the globe. There is nothing among all the necessary appointments of the farm so highly appreciated in his proper sphere of usefulness as this noble animal. People now more than ever heretofore, realize the fact that time is money, and not a moment should be lost in establishing separate fairs for the sole exhibition of the beauties and powers of the horse.

Comparatively few farmers in this section of the State found time to be present at the different county seats to hear the four gentlemen now competing for the congressional prize, which in these latter times could generally with much truthfulness be designated merely as a paying situation rather than a position made honorable by a high order of public service. In a question of public efficiency it matters little howsoever estimable a man as a private citizen he may be, if from any cause he is not fitted for the public service which he seeks to procure, justice to all concerned demands that such persons should be left at home to represent their own private affairs. With but one representative in the popular branch of the national legislature the rapidly-growing trade of Oregon with the outside world demands, to say the least, that he should pretty thoroughly understand the financial and commercial interests of the whole people and especially those with whose immediate public welfare he is in a large degree to be intrusted.

The late monetary collapse, which fell so heavily upon the agricultural and commercial interests of the people of this coast, caused mainly by the long continued exportation of our native gold to the great money centers of the Old World, has had the good effect to stir up, even among the agricultural class, a more thoughtful inquiry into the true causes which govern the movements of the precious metals from one country to another, and which is certainly one of the most important subjects treated of in political economy, and when better understood by the masses will promptly banish all fears of a further paper inflation. Gold has not been for years the money of the United States, nor ever will be until effective measures are taken by the government for the restoration of the gold standard. Under the present system of a cheaper forced circulation the many millions (excepting the amount kept principally as dead weight under lock and key) annually dug from our mines will, like other commodities, always seek the best markets of the world where it is used for all the legitimate purposes for which it was intended.

A very large majority of the people all over this broad land honestly prefer men for either public or private positions of trust who are of well known temperate habits while it would make but little difference with comparatively few indeed as against such person, to know that he had, or had not been, endorsed by a temperance convention. Consequently, the temperance movement will have but very slight effect upon Mr Warren's vote in this vicinity. He will receive a very liberal support. If Mr Whitney's excessive shyness had not prevented him from coming boldly up to the score in the start, the certainty, as they near the home stretch, of his coming in third best would not now have been quite so apparent. Mr Lane will lose some votes here that were last year recorded among the unterrified.

GOVERNOR GROVER AT LAFAYETTE.

HE MAKES A BOURBON SPEECH AND DR WATTS FLAYS HIM

LAFAYETTE, Oct 21, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

On Thursday last Gov Grover addressed the citizens of Yamhill at this place on politics after his usual style of applauding the time-honored principles of the General Jackson Democracy. He wanted the good old Democratic days to come round again, and gave the usual growl against everything the Republicans have ever done since they came into power. He was glad for Democracy's sake the Democrats were beaten in Ohio, as he considered they were not sound and square on the currency question and he thought they ought to have been beaten.

He eulogized General Lane in very high terms and said Young Lane is a chip of the old block. He urged Democrats not to throw off on Lane because of his Catholicism—as if anybody thought of making his religion a ground of opposition to him—and finally predicted a rousing majority for Lane next Monday, just as politicians usually predict rousing majorities for their favorites.

Dr J W Watts replied to the Governor in a telling speech of an hour and a half, during and after which the Republicans were glad and the Democrats were mad. As the Doctor analyzed the Governor's argument and showed up its fallacies frequent growls were heard among the faithful. The Doctor completely riddled His Excellency. There is but one sentiment here, which is that Governor Grover's speech is a lost ball. There is changing the figure of speech—neither root nor branch left of it. Dr Watt's last half hour was occupied with an appeal to Republicans to stand by Warren, which was truly powerful and had the desired effect. Republicans in Yamhill are getting jubilant and determined and you may count on 100 majority for Warren in this county.

YAMHILL.

THE ROYAL GUEST

They tell me I am shrewd with other men;
With thee I'm slow and difficult of speech;
With others I may guide the car of talk;
Thou wing'st it oft to realms beyond my reach.

If other guests should come, I'd deck my hair,
And choose my newest garment from the shelf;
When thou art bidden, I would clothe my heart
With holiest purpose, as for God himself.

For them I while the hours with tale or song,
Or web of fancy fringed with careless rhyme;
But how to find a fitting lay for thee,
Who hast the harmonies of every time?

O friend beloved! I sit apart and dumb—
Sometimes in sorrow, oft in joy divine;
My lip will falter, but my prisoned heart
Springs forth to measure its faint pulse with thine.

Thou art to me most like a royal guest,
Whose travels bring him to some lowly roof,
Where simple rustics spread their festal fare
And, blushing, own it is not good enough.

Bethink thee, then, whene'er thou com'st to me,
From high emprise and noble toil to rest,
My thoughts are weak and trivial, matched with thine;
But the poor mansion offers thee its best.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 23, 1875

WHITNEY AND HILL AGAIN

Our friend H. H. Hillsboro Independent we are sorry to see has taken leave of his wits ... to Congress. From the appearance presented by this week's number of his paper we should judge he has not had a lucid interval during the entire week intervening between that and the last previous number. We have ... and reckless ... the professedly ... paper ... partisan journal. All the silly twaddle of Whitney about his being the ... of a conspiracy between Republican and Independent politicians, is ... to the columns of the Independent ... Whitney knows that ... nation made by him implicating any Independent it is a miserable falsehood, and so does the editor of the Independent if he is not so demented as not to know the difference between Gulliver's Travels and the New Testament. If he is too daft just now to see what a ridiculously shabby part he is playing in this matter he will surely perceive it and be heartily ashamed of it when his fevered ... and his senses returned.

We are loth to believe Whitney is the inventor of ... which ... remarked above, he knows it is pure fiction without a thread of truth in warp or woof. He knows that before Underwood and Miller went to see him he was closeted for hours with a Republican and Federal ... at Eugene. He knows that a large part of the night before he was nominated by the Independent Convention he was in secret consultation with a prominent Republican and ... about his running for Congress. He knows that the famous and fatal dispatch which he sent to Jason Owens ... and that he has stated in the presence of several men of undoubted veracity, whom we could name that it was a deliberate act on his part. He knows that no Independent ... had anything to do with ... and that Judge Walton, of Eugene an Independent, a discreet man a friend of Whitney's and as true a man as lives, being informed that he was absent and to send the dispatch to Owens, tried to prevent his sending it, but ... was not heeded to. He knows, in short, and his published statement that the dispatch to Owens was intended to be secret is proof, that instead of a conspiracy between Independent and Republican politicians the conspiracy was between himself and the Republican politicians referred to, and its object so far as he was concerned, was to deceive the Republican Convention with a dispatch which he now declares was untruthful, and thus secure the Republican nomination by a trick and at the same time, by concealing from the Independents the fact that he was in secret conference with the Republicans retain their confidence and command their support. It was a clumsily conceived and wretchedly executed fraud, which resulted, just as all ... in the ... of the principal originator.

It is not pleasant to make the statements we have made above, especially about a person who has always ... honorable and truthful ... Whitney's only ... in the State ... the truth ... it is the truth nevertheless. Mr Whitney may deny our ... what he knows we have in our possession the evidence to prove. The people who read this will see who it was that betrayed the Independents and we repeat, we can prove every word which we have written. We leave the matter now for Mr Whitney to explain at his leisure as he will have an abundance of leisure after next Monday simply notifying him and his defenders that we shall be on hand at any time when they may choose to go into the evidence.

WE GIVE IT UP

The Evening Journal ... at last. It says the original affidavits concerning Alaskan affairs of which it has published what purports to be translations, are in the hands of Mr H. T. Bingham "a Republican lawyer in this city" ... that he is a Republican? and any ... can suspect them who doubts the correctness of the Journal's statements. These originals ... Russian language we venture to say the office of Mr Bingham will not be thronged with a crowd of people desirous of making translations for their own satisfaction. At any rate we shall not make a descent on those originals. Rather than attempt to unravel their mysteries, we shall admit the truth of anything the Journal might have ... experience with the Russian once ... that could make characters in ... The type metal ... and we had a friend who said he ... and longer. The first ... nearly as ...

point we were desperate. The cadence toward the end of the line however suggested a way of relief and we seized upon the suggestion instanter. "Choke us off" just the thing! and we choked him off. It was a deadly insult. We were never friends afterward. He had been ... but we could not ... under the circumstances. ... translate those affidavits. Not we.

A BAD CASE OF MENTAL DERANGEMENT

The Independent has a fearfully exaggerated idea of the political power of two certain individuals in this community, a ... unhealthy notion that that power is used for the most sinister and possibly dangerous purposes. It will be surprising to our readers but it is never the less true that the two persons alluded to and who are supposed to have been at the bottom of most of the deviltment in the State of Oregon for some time past are as insignificant personages as the editor of this paper and Mr H. V. Thompson. For some unaccountable reason these two persons have lately become the bête noir of the Independent man. He has Hilland Thompsonphobia and has it bad. ... those two bulls of Bashan break into his bed chamber of nights, and tear round there till he is so frightened he can't tell the ceiling from the floor. Don't know which end to put his hat on, and finally makes his escape ... the editor of the Independent is troubled with worms. If so, it may be some time before he comes round as the Doctors say. But if it is only the excitement incidental to his ... efforts to elect ... to congress, that has produced the disease of his imagination he will doubtless come forth ... clothed and in his right mind, as soon as the contest is well over. We hope so at any rate.

AN ERRONEOUS DISPATCH

A Washington dispatch of October 21 published here on the 31 says:

In fact it was a recent report to the war department on our possessions in Alaska it is shown that the government now pays $4,000 per annum for twelve monthly trips of a mail steamer between Port Townsend ... and Oregon, and the port of Sitka in Alaska. It gives the half dozen official individuals of that place the sole benefit of this expenditure on the part of the government, and is an exceeding injustice to the inhabitants of Kodiak, Ounalaska, ... and St Michaels, all of which have a thousand times more trade than Sitka and the ... villages ... population of the town in question ... wasted ... small revenue steamer and ... a drain on the treasury would result in law, order and protection. It is also an unwarranted waste of public money this moving the troops up to and down from Sitka every two or three years, with the increased cost of their supplies counted in.

This dispatch was a mistake from beginning to end. Gen. Howard's report contained not a line or word in reference to the cost of carrying the mails. The dispatch was incorrect in every essential part.

A country exchange which has become noted of late for the recklessness of its statements has this:

And finally if Mr Hill was not in collusion with the Portland custom house ring to effect the nomination of the Republican candidate and defeat the Independents, why was he present at the caucus of the Republican convention?

This stupendous conundrum can be answered without much difficulty. We were in no caucus or consultations of the Republican convention, or of any members of it, and were not aware that any caucus was held. If the paper from which that extract is taken has any conscientious scruples about telling untruths it will demonstrate that fact by correcting its misrepresentations.

Our citizens should note the trial of the criminal cases pending in the circuit court against a number of ... who ought to be sent to a reform school instead of the penitentiary. Every day adds a fresh victim to the list of ... that ... the ... of such a corrective institution to take charge of them at the commencement of their evil courses.

The Mercury says Mr J. K. Luttrell has never held office except when elected by the Democracy. Two years ago he was elected to congress by the Independents in the northern district of California.

Remember the Republican rally this evening. The Democrats are making strenuous efforts to get out all their votes. Let every supporter of Warren be at his post now and until Monday evening.

"ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?"

GILROY, March 1, 1875

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: In an experience of three years with the Averill Chemical Paint more than one half the jobs have chalked, peeled or cracked off notwithstanding the Paint was warranted to do neither; and out of sixteen failures, the "California Chemical Paint Company" have refused to furnish Paint to repaint but six of the sixteen. I refer to the following houses that have cracked, peeled and chalked off in this place: James Corey, H C Morey, M D Thomas, Darrough, E J Bryant, E H Farmer, Frank Oldham, J H Trickey, G. Woodward, Thomas Rea, P. Ball, D Whitney, William Wilson, J M Einfest, E B Hitchcock, J A Baxter, Music Hall, Catholic Church and I might mention many more.

23 POST ST., SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11, 1874

To Proprietors Chemical Paint Company—Gents: I had my house in Oakland painted with your paint. It was warranted to be good and satisfactory in every respect. I was obliged to have the third coat put on to make it look as if it had been really painted, and even then I think one good coat of Lead Paint would have given the house a better appearance. I think you ought to make up to me the loss I sustained besides the annoyance I felt knowing that an inferior article had been put on when a No 1 article had been promised. Hoping to hear from you soon on the subject. I remain, yours, resp'y

GILROY, Sept. 4, 1875

To whom it may concern: Seeing in various papers that the "California Chemical Paint Company" continue to deceive people by saying that the Averill paint will neither peel, crack, nor chalk off, I deem it my duty to say that my house, painted with the above named paint in the fall of 1873 failed in less than eighteen months after being painted by peeling, cracking and chalking off in the worst manner imaginable. I also observe that the company have my name in their printed matter as reference; this was done without my knowledge or consent.

GILROY, March 1875

To whom it may concern: My house, painted with the Averill Chemical Paint in June 1873, failed in a little over one year after being painted by chalking, peeling, wasting and changing color, some light color some dark. The California Chemical Paint Company are knowing to this and yet continue to deceive the public by saying that the Averill Paint will not peel, crack nor chalk.

GILROY, Sept 4, 1875

To whom it may concern: My house painted with the Averill Chemical Paint, manufactured by the California Chemical Paint Company, of San Francisco, about two years ago, failed in less than one year after it was painted, by chalking off and changing color, and I had a portion of it repainted.

GILROY, Sept 4, 1875

CITY.

THE GOODENOUGH HORSE SHOE Mr Frank Goodenough, the courteous young gentleman who introduces the new and improved system of horse shoeing in this city known as the Goodenough system, has just opened a shop at 29 Stark street, two doors east of the Catholic church. By invitation we were present yesterday and witnessed the shoeing of Mr C P Bacon's fine stallion Hambletonian according to the new system. Under the manipulations of an expert workman the hoofs of the animal were prepared for the reception of the shoes and the iron appendages attached. Although this shoe was invented several years ago and [illegible] extensively introduced and adopted throughout most of the States of the Union and in Europe, yet the system proposed by the Goodenough horse shoe is something entirely new in Oregon. This is [illegible] subject to modification as we believe. [illegible], the well known livery stable keeper, has been using the Goodenough shoe for some months with the most satisfactory results. The advantages gained by the use of the Goodenough shoe are very apparent and readily suggested to the mind of every one at all conversant with the nature and structure of a horse's foot. The idea of the Goodenough shoe is to give a natural bearing upon the ground, doing away with the toe and heel calks of the ordinary shoe, and substituting five calks, one at the toe and two on each [illegible] and to allow the frog to assume its natural function of giving elasticity to the step and securing the joints and nerves from injury by jarring. By propping the horse up on his iron stilts the frog is thrown out of use, and farriers [illegible] it off to get it out of the way. [illegible] is that the normal circulation [illegible] of the nerves fail from want of [illegible] and the frog gradually dries up and wastes away. General contraction of the hoof, toe and quarter crack, besides other ailments of the foot, ensue. The frog is evidently intended by nature for some purpose and it is a mistaken idea to assume that it is too tender to stand rough usage upon pavements. On the contrary, it has sufficient inherent vigor and growth to not only endure [illegible] over all sorts of roads, but even wear better than metal, being constantly renewed by its normal increase. The Goodenough shoe is very much lighter than the old [illegible], yet it will wear longer, because the frog comes into play to take its share. Another important method in the new process of shoeing the horse, is the shoe is not burned on the foot. No forge is used and the shoes are put on cold, which is certainly a great improvement over the old process of searing down the rim of the hoof until the shoe fits.

STEAMER SAILED—Last evening at 4 o'clock the steamer John L Stephens sailed from this port for San Francisco, carrying hence the following passengers: Mrs Thompson Mr Hebbards, Willie Stevens, M. Ayers and wife Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Kingsley and child Mrs. Hebbards, Omar Kingsley, N. W Tallant, E J Hall, Mrs. Smith and sister, Miss Allison, John Wilson, Wm. Thompson, Dr Palmer, Hugh Garra, J. Edwards, Chas J Hult, [illegible], John Wilson's circus (15 in the cabin, [illegible] in steerage) 11 horses Wells, Fargo & Co's [illegible], and 50 in the steerage

[illegible] CLOTHES THIEF—No small stir was created last evening about 6 30 o'clock at the corner of First and Morrison streets and for a brief space of time one would [illegible] suppose a royal Bengal tiger or the king of the beasts, had broken loose. The [illegible] of the excitement was neither more nor less than an old Chinese clothes thief [illegible] observed, an old celestial in passing the clothing establishment of J Kohn grabbed five pairs of trousers, which were hanging in front of the store, and darted off. Some persons on the opposite corner saw the thief, and started in pursuit, "Cries of "stop, thief, [illegible]" and in a moment a crowd was [illegible] in the chase The Chinaman [illegible] getting too hot and dropping his booty [illegible] off at an accelerated speed [illegible]. Pursuit was given; but aided by a pair of swift legs and the darkness the thief eluded capture and got away

BURGLARY—During Wednesday night of the present week, the residence of Mr Wm Holmes, at Oregon City, was burglarized The thief gained admittance to the house, and while walking about aroused a son of Mr Holmes, who sprang from his bed and seized a pistol, which he kept under his pillow. Mr Burglar, finding that things might be made a little tropical for him, incontinently fled from the house pursued by young Holmes As the thief ran through the yard, the boy discharged the pistol at him, but the ball failed to take effect, the report only causing the frightened burglar to accelerate his flying footsteps On examining the house it was discovered that $40 was missing. The burglar had evidently secured that sum before being scared off

CHIEF CLERKSHIP ACCEPTED—Mr G L Torrey who has been acting in the capacity of chief clerk for Col R. N Bachelder, chief quartermaster of this military department for some time, took his departure last evening on the outgoing steamer He goes to Baltimore Md, where he will assume the position of head clerk of the quartermaster's department in that city under Col. H. W James Mr Torrey received a dispatch a few days ago from Col [illegible] who tendered him the position which he accepted at once He is one of the most careful and competent clerks connected with the service His numerous friends will be gratified to learn of a promotion so well merited

OWNERS OF BENJ SEWALL Respecting the [illegible] in yesterday's issue about the fine wooden ship Benj Sewall, the largest vessel ever in the Wallamet river a slight error crept in relative to her dimensions Her hold is 24 feet in depth, not 34, as stated with a capacity of 2,000 tons, or 22 feet draft. The ship's owners, Messrs Sewall, Day & Co are one of the wealthiest firms in Boston Mr Sewall, the head of this firm is a striking instance of the success attendant upon unflagging industry and business talent having arrived in Boston many years ago, with no capital save brains and enterprise, and now ranking as one of her merchant princes

LIBERAL ASSOCIATION—The proposed lecture of Mr A C Edmonds to morrow evening, under the auspices of the liberal association, has been postponed The members of the association however are desirous of having a profitable time, and purpose at their regular time of meeting to morrow to [illegible] in conference" when any person present will be allowed ten minutes to give his experience or express his sentiments concerning any topic he may select All are cordially invited to attend at Good Templars hall to morrow at 2 P. M.

NEW QUARTERS—His Hon M P Deady judge of the United States circuit and district courts, the marshal, [illegible] and the clerk, Ralph Wilcox, [illegible] their old quarters in Stark [illegible] street, and are now installed in [illegible] elegant rooms in the custom house [illegible] change is one [illegible] have good reasons to congratulate themselves The new offices [illegible] and furnished in the most elaborate and convenient style and [illegible]

GOOD TIME [illegible] the steamer [illegible] took the large [illegible] Wm H Besse in tow and started [illegible] river. At 10 [illegible] passed St Helens [illegible] at [illegible] time considering [illegible] the Besse [illegible] feet of wa[illegible]

AWARDED THE CONTRACT—News was received yesterday from the department in relation to the bids opened in General Michler's office some time ago for the improvement of the Upper Columbia The contract has been awarded Messrs Grant and Stone, two well known gentlemen The sum of $30,000 was appropriated by congress for this purpose, and the contract embraces the improvement of the channels through the Umatilla Rock Creek and Owyhee rapids The work will be commenced as soon as the necessary material and appliances can be collected

STAGE ROBBERY.

Telegraphic information reached the city yesterday of the robbery of a stage, together with the treasure box of Wells, Fargo & Co's express. While the Northwestern Stage Co's stage was coming down and within about six miles of Umatilla on Thursday night the driver was ordered to stop by several men who stepped to the roadside and presented pistols and guns Two passengers were in the stage at the time, one of whom was Major W H Boyle who is en route for Portland from Malheur Reservation Cocked pistols were leveled at the heads of Major Boyle and the other passenger, and they were invited to throw up their hands and come down with their loose change, which they did without unnecessary delay The robbers then took the treasure box which they broke open The 'pocket' containing money, papers and letters, was also taken away A large amount of money is said to have been in the treasure box, but it is impossible at present for the express company to estimate the total sum taken Men are on the track of the robber and in close pursuit. We hope to be able to chronicle the capture of the highwaymen in the next issue

FROM ASTORIA.

A letter from Astoria, dated Oct 22d says Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning our citizens were aroused from their slumbers by the cry of fire fire ' and the ringing of the alarm bell The cause of the alarm was found to be the new steam-tug Gen Canby lying at Flavel's wharf which had caught fire somewhere about the boiler Fortunately it was discovered before it had gained any considerable headway and was extinguished before any material injury was sustained The "boys" promptly turned out at the alarm and dragged their ponderous' big six to the spot but though they tried till long after the danger was passed could not succeed in getting the engine to throw a stream It is sincerely to be hoped that the alarm will have the good effect of arousing our citizens to a sense of their danger and to look at once to securing more efficiency in their fire department

On Thursday morning last a young man named Frank Lord was engaged in removing the scaffolding, which had been used in the erection of the extension of the Astoria Farmers Company's warehouse Attempting to descend from the roof he stepped upon a board which gave way, causing him to slide six feet down the roof, and thence precipitating him to the wharf below a distance of sixteen feet more stunned by the fall on returning to consciousness Frank discovered that had he moved two inches from where he fell he would have rolled over into the river Had he done so he must inevitably have been drowned as no one witnessed the fall Mr Lord is considerably bruised on one side from his face down to his feet but providentially he had no bones broken and apparently has received no very severe internal injuries

Arrived Thursday evening, at Astoria the British bark Herbert Black, in ballast from Australia direct, to load grain, seeking charter

Twenty thousand persons visited the State Fair, and the railroads and other modes of transportation were taxed to their utmost in carrying the immense outpouring of the people. A large proportion of these seekers for pleasure and profit visited the establishment of Beck & Waldman, First and Washington streets, for the express purpose of buying from the immense stock of clothing displayed to the gaze of the public The prices seemed to please all Youths' clothing is a specialty at this house

The Elegant Establishment of JOS KOHN cor of First and Morrison streets has been literally stuffed with fall and winter goods, which they are disposing of at a lively rate for the reason that Kohn has made some excellent selections and what is more the prices are ranging exceedingly low When you want anything to please you in clothing no better chance to find it is offered than at Kohn's Be sure and call when you find it necessary to purchase

The large sale of Elmwood collars proves their popularity If you have not worn them try them at once

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

This evening there will be a grand Republican rally Originally it was intended and the announcement was so made, that the demonstration should take place in front of the Occidental hotel but owing to the threatened inclemency of the weather, it was wisely concluded to hold the meeting at Masonic Hall This is a prudent determination as the evening will probably be stormy and unpropitious for an out door demonstration Masonic Hall is large and commodious and can accommodate an immense crowd Extensive preparations have been made, and the rally will doubtless be one of the largest and most enthusiastic which has been given for years. A splendid band will be in attendance and furnish music on the occasion Fireworks have been provided and these attractive auxiliaries will lend additional eclat to the notable occasion Amidst the sweet strains of music the glare of the huge bonfire, and hissing and gyrations of the rockets the friends of Mr Warren are expected to rally under the old banner and turn out en masse Prominent speakers are expected to be present and address the meeting on the political topics of the day Persons representing every shade of political opinion are cordially invited to attend the meeting and hear the discussion of the political issues of the day An enthusiastic demonstration is expected

Mr John O Neill the popular merchant tailor took his departure on the steamer for San Francisco where he goes to lay in a large stock of goods Immediately on his return to Portland, Mr O Neill will open the large storeroom on the corner of Stark and First streets formerly occupied by S L Marsh & Co He will carry on an extensive tailoring establishment and also keep a large and fashionable assortment of gents furnishing goods Mr O'Neill will return in a few weeks, when he will be pleased to meet all his old friends and customers of whom John has scores.

The damp weather should not interfere with your intention to call on Beck & Waldman this evening, when a splendid chance to make purchases will be offered Recollect this, particularly parents wishing to treat the boys to a suit

Having satisfied ourselves that certain dealers are selling inferior goods which they represent as our manufacture, we therefore caution the public against such misrepresentations.

Any person buying goods, sold as OUR MAKE, which should not give satisfaction will confer a favor upon the undersigned by transmitting a sample thereof, together with the name of the firm who sold the same. We will then be enabled to prosecute parties guilty of palming off base imitations for goods of our manufacture.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 23, 1875.

FIVE AND TWENTY YEARS

A poem by Rev. T. L. Eliot, read by him at the silver wedding [illegible] of a prominent citizen of Portland October [illegible], 1875.

Five and twenty years ago
A [illegible] friendship love
[illegible] years and [illegible]
[illegible] wake and move

[illegible] part the good man said
[illegible] hath [illegible] together
Let no man sunder they are wed
[illegible] and [illegible] weather

Five and twenty years ago
[illegible] first kiss
[illegible] the evidence
[illegible] bliss

[illegible] years [illegible]
Hast kept thy covenant?
[illegible]
[illegible] strength and comfort rent

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] Hope more sweet and Faith
By knowledge glorified

It cannot be that mountain stream
[illegible] leap and flow
But men [illegible] fair of river's brim
Drink deep the current slow

It cannot be that heavenly flowers
[illegible] the branch at [illegible] spray forever
But fruit [illegible] [illegible]
To bless the springtime giver

[illegible] love [illegible] was passing sweet
[illegible] when first they knew
[illegible] and twenty years"—what now?
[illegible] not for you

A wonder that a man's full love
A woman's for dust trust
Can grow more full from year to year
And flowers with fruit still burst

For wedded Love like the sweet tree
[illegible]
Fills its green leaves with flowers and fruit
The whole round year it lives

Dear friends, God's love gave you and yours
Each other and has blest
Your home for twenty years and five
With shelter food and rest.

Your toils have garnered full return
Your trials [illegible]
[illegible] treasures prove too sweet
When earth's not always home

Five and twenty years from now,
Perhaps, as spirits fair,
Your golden wedding is of Heaven
Your home not here, but there

O by the memories of that day
And by the joys of this,
And by the solemn hope of that
God gives in Paradise

Take hand in hand put heart in heart
Repeat the promise o'er
And consecrate in Christ's dear name
Your love your home your store

As stewards of His bounty plant;
As Jesus lovers, give
As children of the Living God
For Him and mankind live.

Be angels of his presence here
Who said [illegible] done to Me
When hunger's stilled and misery's tear
Is wiped away by thee

Large is God's world long is His Heaven

THE YOUNG TEACHER

There were wild scholars in that school The girls well grown romps, who were almost without exception handsome and who knew it

A nice time fair haired blue eyed gentle young Harry Munn was to have with them

He guessed that as he arose at his desk on the first morning

Five young men and one elderly woman had departed that schoolhouse vanquished, and now he headed the forlorn hope—a man not five and twenty yet, with a collegiate education a sensitive feelings and no physique

He knew nothing about girls.

His two demure sisters might not have been of the same race for all the likeness there was between them and these romps

And they were so pretty, especially Violet Raynor, the worst romp of all

In those first days they tried all their old tricks hid their slate pencils and heated his chalked faces on the blackboard, and wrote rhymes in the copy books.

Passed some simple answer that everybody knew up and down the class

Talked, ate apples and cracked nuts

Wrote him a love letter, which they signed with the name of the late deceased spinster, and sent it to him by a small child who arrived in school time

Set flies on the wing with paper slips tied to their legs.

Tripped over his toes and apologized

Overset his inkstand on purpose and did a thousand other such impish things

He kept thinking that Violet was the prettiest girl he had ever seen.

She look so good and sweet too

How could she join in the follies?

And, indeed, she was not as bad as the rest and once or twice actually behaved beautifully

Violet certainly could be charming if she choose

She on her part, secretly thought the teacher very handsome and very pleasant

She was seventeen and old enough to think of handsome men with some interest

His delicate manner and gentlemanly habits pleased her and she would have behaved herself in a ladylike way but for popular opinion

But alas "the girls" had resolved not to give in to any young man teacher

They were proud of their horrible conduct and when she had endeavored to do well, had taunted her with being cowardly

Violet could not yield to her better impulses —dared not.

And then she knew very well that the young man admired her, and under such circumstances, it became a sort of triumph to hold out

"He'll think I've taken a fancy to him if I give in" said she.

And in the queerest spirit of defiance she fairly led the riot from that moment

Henry Munn found this very hard to bear but he had no intention of giving in

One by one he conquered the girls

The small ones he switched on their palms

As a last resort the elder ones were consigned—dinnerless—to long lessons, or had private lectures, which shamed them into decency

Of course he could not switch Violet

She was a young woman

Nor did lectures have any effect on her, whatever.

She giggled and pouted and played some trick on him ten minutes after

At last, one day her outrageous sauciness became more than he could bear and he decided to endure it no longer

He waited until she was quiet for a moment —she was drawing a carricature of him—and arose at his desk

"Miss Violet Raynor" he said

"Here she is" said Violet "Where are your eyes?"

"Miss Violet Raynor" repeated Mr Munn, "I have come to a conclusion concerning you"

"Ah" said Violet "is it possible?"

"You are demoralizing the school Miss Raynor" said Henry "setting a bad and unladylike example to everyone here When such scholars are found in the part I come from it is customary to expel them Therefore I now expel you Take your hat and books and leave this room and never enter it again while I am teacher"

Violet Raynor stared at him in amazement then laughed

"I'll go when I'm ready, Mr Munn and come back when I please," she said "I suppose you forget who I am that I am Colonel Raynor's daughter and that no schoolmaster can turn me out of school"

Mr Munn arose went to the wardrobe and took down the coquettish hat and sacque and parasol carefully deposited the books in the neat strap, and handed them to her

"Put your things on, Miss Raynor" he said "and allow me to open the door for you unless, indeed you prefer to apologize and be have henceforth in a manner that shall not disgrace the school and yourself"

"Apologize," said Violet who began to tremble, reflecting on the questions that would be asked at home "I certainly shall do no such thing You'll apologize to me before long"

Then she put on her hat and walked slowly to the door

The whole school followed her with its many eyes, and she was conscious of a signal defeat

What could she do she asked herself to turn the table on this conqueror of hers and at least set the school laughing at him before she opened the door

She had not much chance

She was very near it and there was he, polite and calm as possible, with his hand on the latch

Her black eyes danced about her

Near her was a shelf

On the shelf stood what Violet supposed to be an ink bottle

To toss the contents in the teacher's face was not a very elegant piece of revenge but it would make him look funny and cause a shout.

She caught in her hands

"I'll set you a copy before I go as well as a bad example girls" she cried and then the contents were dashed in the teacher's face

Alas

The result was not a laugh—it was a scream of terror as the young man rolled in horrible agony upon the floor

Mr Munn taught a class of chemistry in the school room on Saturday afternoons and this shelf was devoted to the articles needful for the study

It was a bottle of some terrible acid which Violet Raynor had taken in her hand and its contents had fallen upon Henry Munn's blue eyes

She was beside him on her knees now crying and praying and vowing her ignorance of the contents of the jar and in much of his agony found voice to assure her that he believed her before he lost all consciousness

Eight weeks after this a young man lay upon the pillows of the spare room in Colonel Raynor's house

He was thin and worn and there was an indelible scar on his forehead and one of his blue eyes was closed forever but matters were better than had been hoped for a long time for he had been expected to be utterly blind

Beside him sat a young girl

It was Violet Raynor

She was also a little worn and her whole manner seemed altered

She had been reading to him

Now in the twilight she put the book down and looked at him with tears in her eyes

"Mr. Munn," she said "I have wanted to say something to you for a long while but I feared to agitate you Now you are so much better I must say it If I could live over that old school time I would be so very different indeed I would I am so ashamed of all that And as for this that I have done to you I shall never forgive myself all my life I shall never be happy for an hour I never am"

"Violet" said Henry "I beg you will not reproach yourself so much You only meant to teaze me, not to hurt me and then I shall not be blind I have been thanking God for that all day, that I shall not be blind"

She burst into tears

"You patient angel" she said "But you'll hate me always I know I deserve that."

"Hate you?" he said

Then he paused

"I shall never forget my gentle nurse" he said, "the kind girl who has never forgotten me all these weeks"

He took her hand

"If I could do you some great good" she said "something to compensate for the harm I have done—but there is nothing"

"There is something" he said and then sighed

"There might be something"

Then she blushed rosy red and knelt down beside him

"Will you kiss me Violet?" he asked

She kissed him once on the lips and once on the red scar on his forehead

Then Mrs Raynor came in with his tea and toast.

But Violet went to sleep happy that night and Henry had such a dream that he thought he must be dead and in heaven

And in the spring the two were married

Violet Raynor was her father's only daughter and could do as she pleased with him and he did not wait to die before he made her rich

Wild now?

Oh dear no

The sweetest most ladylike little woman and the [illegible] happy an mortal can be

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 8[illegible] selling 80½

The heavy rains have some effect in repressing activity in trade, but are doubtless welcomed by the farmers as they will put the ground in excellent condition for the fall plowing and seeding. The market both financially and commercially is not essentially changed from the condition noted yesterday

Advices from the interior towns indicate that receipts of wheat had fallen off somewhat during the past week owing to the occurrence of the State Fair and the fact that the decline in quotations about a fortnight since tended to check the movement. There are no changes in the market since yesterday The receipts of domestic produce are liberal at this point
